CM inaugurates new academic block of Royal Global University

Sonowal urges the students to utilise their time properly

Dispur, August 27: Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal today inaugurated the new academic block of Royal Global University and also unveiled a bust of former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee at the University campus.

Saying that Royal Global University had achieved reputation not only in North East but in the entire country for its advanced and modern teaching methods, Sonowal termed the success and the popularity of the University as the result of the hardwork and dedication of the faculty members and the students. Discipline, accountability and dedication were the important traits for achieving success, he said.

Referring to the Act East Policy as the catalyst for making all round development of North East possible at a fast pace, the chief minister said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi had provided the impetus to the region for making inroads into the markets of South East Asian and BBN countries and build stronger ties.

Calling on the University to aspire to make a name for itself in the South East Asian region by providing education of highest standards, Sonowal urged the stakeholders of the university to make the students aware about their responsibilities towards the ecology and environment. He appealed the students to give equal importance to environment along with economic progress.

Stressing on the need to work with Team India spirit for taking the country into the high growth trajectory, Sonowal emphasised on preserving the age old heritage, traditions, natural beauty of the country along with economic progress. The chief minister called on the students to properly utilise their time to shape their careers and make meaningful contribution to the nation building careers.

Chancellor of Royal Global University Ashok Panchari gave the welcome address at the programme which was attended by MP Queen Ojha, MLA Bimal Bora, Media Adviser to the Chief Minister Hrishikesh Goswami, Vice Chairman of Assam Petrochemicals Limited Bikul Deka among others.
